DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to because the drawings are missing labels, which render it difficult to quickly ascertain the illustrated elements. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 2614

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 14 depends on itself, rendering the claim indefinite. For the purpose of art evaluation, it shall be presumed that the claim depends on claim 13.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-13 are allowed.
5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Dinwiddie (6481013) teaches the general architecture for an in-home distribution (fig. 1) including the claimed diplexer (22), a hub (22), amplifier (72) and the cable carrying television signals in a first frequency band (fig. 1, [4, 38-54]). However, the reference doesn't disclose a particular composition of the hub as claimed.

Edson (6526581) teaches the hub (13) with ^{CLIENT}~~modems~~ modems (323, 312), central modems (115, 117, 119), and first and second network access devices (42, 43). However, Edson fails to teach the frequency bands.

Inaguma (6581208) teaches the usages of the in-building upstream being above the television signal, but it doesn't disclose the downstream frequency also being above the television signal frequency band (fig. 1; [7, 20-60]).

Accordingly, taken in combination, the references fail to particularly disclose or suggest the frequency distribution is 'a cable is carrying television signals in a first frequency band' (claim 1, step b), and 'comprising at least one central modem for transmitting...and for receiving upstream communications... the upstream communications and downstream communications occurring above the first frequency band (claim 1, step d1).

6. Claim 14 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure as follows. Applicant is reminded that in amending in response to a rejection of claims, the patentable novelty must be clearly shown in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited and the objections made.

- The Terry et al. (5499047) reference is directed toward a distribution network comprising coax and optical fiber paths for transmission of television and additional signals.
- Swisher et al. (6418149) reference is directed toward bi-directional premises wiring system and method.
